I'm a bilingual and bicultural video producer, director and editor with 25+ years of experience in documentaries and video/multimedia learning tools for higher education. I've created films about topics ranging from inequality and its impact on health to child labor in Ecuador and female genital mutilation in Senegal. I'm looking to lend my video production, learning design, and research skills to new projects that will deepen the viewers' understanding of the increasingly complex world we live in.
